

Medical Doctor &
Relationship Coach

DR. SIVA SUNDAR

UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD

mid-day

Dr. Siva Sundar is a private family physician for a large investment bank in London, UK.

He finished his medical degree and PhD by the age of 30 at University College London. During his internship he researched at the University of Oxford. His work has been presented all over the World, including Australia, The Netherlands and the United States.

Dr. Siva is also a relationship coach who helps attract women to successful, professional men. He has been featured in a national Indian newspaper, Mid Day, (circulation of 500,000) and was on the front page of MSN News.

He lives next to Regent's Park in London. He is into fitness and is often found reading The Financial Times in the East India Club.